

THE VIEW AT EASTCOAST BY ROCKROSE

877 LIC 7778 THEVIEWATEASTCOAST.COM

bed Eater Racked Curbed LA Eater LA Racked LA Curbed SF Eater SF Gridskipper

SUBMIT A TIP ADVERTISE WITH CURBED

Rendering/Reality: Chatham 44

Friday, February 8, 2008, by Joey

[Click to expand.]

Usually, the Rendering/Reality game serves the purpose of pointing out some discrepancies in what developers promise, and what they then deliver. Sometimes the differences are major, sometimes they're minor. Hey, it's hard predicting how something will turn out when it's all said and done. But in the case of our Development Du Jour Chatham 44 in Hell's Kitchen, we actually labeled the photos incorrectly at first. That's how freakishly close they are. While the plywood in the rendering tripped is up, we should have realized that no tree could possibly grow so lush in Hell's Kitchen. Chatham Development Company, Shen B. Jacobs Group and Ingenuity Engine, we've got to hand it to all of you: What we saw is what we got.

- Development Du Jour: Chatham 44 [Curbed]
- Chatham 44 [Official Site]

Filed under Architecture, Manhattan: Hell's Kitchen/Clinton, Real Estate Development, Chatham 44, Rendering/reality

Email this post to a friend

Comments feed for this post

Comments (16 extant)